

Question 845) - A man sold gold for silver in number of units. What is the ruling?

A: It is allowed because the categories are different. There is no condition of the amounts having to be equal, but physical exchange must take place before separation.

~ al-Quduri ~