

Question 2168) - One man claims to have bought from a third party and another claims that that was gift to him from the third party. Both have taken possession from the third party. Neither can produce a date of sale or evidence. Who keeps the goods?

A: The one claiming a sale.

~ al-Quduri ~