

Question 1904) - A wall started leaning towards the road of the Muslims. The owner was requested to break and he did not. The wall then fell and killed someone or caused loss of wealth. Is the owner liable?

A: If witnesses were made to the request for demolishing the wall and he did not demolish it within a time that he could, then he is liable for whatever life or wealth is lost.

~ al-Quduri ~