

Calling out the Iqaamah Midway between the Rows

Q: Salaah-322: When there are many Musallis, should the Iqaamah be called out from the first row or from midway between the rows?

Answer: If everyone is able to hear the Iqaamah being called out from the first row, it should be called out from there. However, if they cannot hear from there and can hear only when called out from between the rows, there will be no harm in doing this. And Allaah knows best what is most correct.
